2010 SUMMER THREE-WEEKS LECTURE SERIES
by RABBI DOVID KATZ

Expelled by the Europeans at the end of the Middle Ages, Ashkenazic Jews found a hospitable home in the vast empire of Poland in the sixteenth century. Here they prospered and created a Golden Age of Jewish Culture, the era of the Rema and the Maharsha. Just when things looked good, a holocaust of unimaginable horrors burst upon their heads.

Five lectures portray this glorious and tragic, and above all tempestuous, era in Jewish History.
